INTRODUCTION

Arbitration Ireland is an organisation that promotes awareness of Dublin as a seat and venue for international arbitration, and seeks to increase the profile of Irish arbitrators and practitioners amongst the wider international arbitration community.

Arbitration Ireland is a unique collaboration between major law firms, the Bar of Ireland, the Law Society of Ireland, Chambers Ireland, Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (Ireland) and Engineers Ireland, as well as individual barristers, solicitors and other members of the professions (“the Association”). These organisations are represented on the Executive Committee of Arbitration Ireland which manages the Association.

The Association hosts regular seminars, networking meetings, discussions and conferences, both in Ireland and abroad, to assist in developing Dublin as a centre of excellence in arbitration. Arbitration Ireland has Chapters located in leading international arbitration centres, including London and New York, which are managed by local committees.

Membership of Arbitration Ireland is open to all nationalities and practitioners, irrespective of their level of experience. Its corporate and institutional members includes leading law firms and corporations, in addition to the professional bodies for barristers, solicitors and engineers. Individual members of the Association are internationally recognised practitioners with broad knowledge of arbitration and expertise.

Arbitration Ireland strives to bring together interested bodies, such as those providing the service of expert witness and firms and individuals who practise in the field of international arbitration to combine their talents to drive Dublin forward as a seat and venue of the highest calibre for both domestic and international disputes.
